

How to use negative shelf life

Overview

Generally WMS does not allow the expired stock to be put on a Picklist!

In general we do not recommend to use negative shelf life, but there are some special cases when it needs to be set. For example shipping expired batches to clear out the expired stock. In these special cases the use of negative shelf life could be the solution.

- Modify the shelf life during the Sales Order line and add a negative value, then go with your standard workflow.
